RACES AT FAIR GROUNDS.

Gentlemen's Driving Club Has Two Fast Classes for This Afternoon.

In their first races this season, which are to be put on at the New London county fair grounds this afternoon, the Gentlemen's Driving Club has high class fields of fast harness horses, which will provide a rare afternoon of sport at the track. The 230 class has an entry list of all-winners that will make this a sterling battle from wire to wire, and the 3 minute class will display a speedy field of young horses to face Starter Fred West of New London. The racing begins at 2:15 p. m. The entries:

3 minute class, pace or trot: William Penn, John Curran, William C. George, B. John Walz, Norwich; Lady Alston, Joseph Eddard, Norwich; Billy B., J. H. Bailey, Norwich; Aquia Rose, A. M. Etheridge, Norwich.
230 class, pace or trot: Billikin, T. R. Sudd, William C. George, W. F. Bailey, Norwich; Bonnie, W. F. Bailey, Norwich; Frank Smith, Norwich; Mystic R. John Charnon, Norwich; Fred R. L. Chapman, Norwich; Peter Pan, Joseph Eddard, Norwich.

BREED THEATER.

The Long Trail, Thrilling Indian Picture.

In the strong drama of the far north entitled "The Long Trail," which is the title of the feature picture of the Breed theater today, there is a beautiful story of sensationalism, love and sacrifice, many of the incidents occurring in a blinding snowstorm. There is no attempt at overdrawn ideas of the great land of snow, but true situations presenting one of the best film stories issued by the Breed theater. An old Indian trapper is killed by a renegade and the murderer is pursued by the trapper's son. The story is a pure summer and winter and finally, after seemingly unsurmountable obstacles have been overcome, the villain is captured and brought back to the post for punishment. Interspersed with the main incidents is the very beautiful and touching story of Natchoochee, daughter of the Indian killed by the renegade, whose devotion and gratitude to the avenger of her father form a theme of heart interest.

Splendid comedy is supplied by three excellent subjects, included among them being the excruciatingly funny Biograph story of "The Midnight Cupid." This company of incomparable actors are to be seen in this film in most congenial parts and the audience is kept in an uproar all of the time the picture is on the screen. Let me give you a figure for replacing all the old plumbing with the modern kind that will keep out the sewer gas. The work will be first-class and the price reasonable.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The season will be of about a month's duration beginning September 15, when Mexico will hold a centennial celebration.

Huber's museum on Fourteenth street in New York, has been closed and another old downtown landmark has so passed on.

Rise Cochran has signed a contract to appear with the New theater company for another year, so one more rumor is disposed of.

Henrietta Crossman has accepted a play for early production, by Miriam Michelson, called The Duchess of Suda. Sounds rather like the old Suda Gene theme again.

One of the best things that Martin Beck did during his trip abroad was make contracts with Cecilia Loftus to return to this country and do her imitations in vaudeville.

Robert Lorraine, who made such a hit over here in Man and Superman, has scored a march on all the theatrical profession by becoming a real aeroplane operator in England.

Arthur Byron has been engaged to play the Blackbird in the Frohman production of "The Sign of the Cross" announced to date. Included in the cast are Maude Adams, Edwin Arden, Dorothy Dorr and Margaret Gordon. Sounds more like the cast for a Barrie comedy.

Another announcement of Nat Goodwin's plans for the coming season is out. It includes his appearance in a new Broadway farce called The POETRY.

THE CALL OF THE BOSS.
I'm folding up my bungalow, although I'd rather not, my fishing kit, for I must leave this spot; I've passed my last farewell around to all my woodland mates, I've got to leave these mountains where he buried all my hates. The ripples in your rocky brook must ripple on alone, I miss those happy healthy days I sprawled beside it prone, With joyful visions rising of a juicy, speckled trout. Oh, how I yelped with rapture when my highest hopes bore fruit. I'd like to catch another trout before I take the train. I'd like to stay up here a while and tempt them once again. Perhaps that big one in the pool might nibble pretty soon. But—dash it all—this message says: "Be back in town at noon." The rising sun gives promise of another splendid day. The birds sing sweetly, but I must break away. All nature bids me linger, but the "Big Chief" won't wait. I've got to leave these mountains for the office needs me now.

Each spark has been extinguished where my cheering campfire burned. My outfit on my shoulder and my back to freedom's turned. My briar pipe the dearest pal I own, I'll carry back to Boston town to cheer me when I'm lonely. My head is full of wood-lane, but my pockets are short of cash. I'm dragging this load along as overland I dash. Back to the city for me—back to the building high. Until my pocketbook can head another fishing. MOUNT WASHINGTON, Everett, Mass. —Boston Post.

The cost of farming lands, even in the unsettled parts of Argentina, is rapidly rising, as may be seen from the fact that at the official sales of public land in the territory of the Rio Negro, situated on both sides of the new railway, the average price was approximately $1.15 United States currency an acre.

The spirit of railroad building seems to have taken possession of the Far East, which needs transportation facilities to develop rich and varied resources. Already a trunk line 400 miles long runs from Singapore to Penang down the western side of the Malay Peninsula. Branches lead out from it to Port Weld, Teluk Siam and Port Swettenham, Port Dickson and Malacca.
